

THE EDGAR WOOD SOCIETY PRESENTS

FRANK BROOKHOUSE DUNKERLEY
ANOTHER
MANCHESTER ARCHITECT

By

Richard Fletcher

Edgar Wood Soc. Researcher

"Frank Dunkerley was a prominent Manchester Arts and Crafts architect in the early years of the twentieth century, and although he is not now as well-known as some of his contemporaries, his work has been acclaimed by such authorities as Pevsner and Barry and Wendy Armstrong. The talk will give details of his career both in architecture and public life, and will include many illustrations of his buildings."
